

Kismet token

Our specific aim is to help fund non-profit groups that foster creativity, especially for young people – to change the destiny of those less fortunate by circumstance.

Giving...with more upside

How does it work?

When donating to charity, the benefit is primarily to the recipient, with the donor claiming the limited reward of a tax deduction at best.

Kismet Token turns this legacy system upside down – by raising funds for charity and non-profit groups via a levy on transactions whilst also benefiting token holders with potential token appreciation.

With a very limited supply, autonomous growth-oriented token mechanisms and enormous upside potential, our aim is to be a ‘mutually beneficial’ charity token by creating value for both holders AND fund recipients.

Philosophy

We believe in the power of art and the humanities to increase our well-being.

By developing creative skills, we build PERMA – Positive Emotion, Engagement, Relationships, Meaning, and Accomplishments. Not to mention joyfulness, mindfulness and flow.

More than that, our belief is that creativity in all its forms is actually THE key to putting people on a path to self-discovery, growth and meaningful contribution to society.

Creativity isn't just about art – at its core it's also learning about life, lateral thinking and the skills we need to survive and thrive. Metaphorically, it amounts to teaching someone to fish, rather than simply giving them one.

Through art, creativity and observation, we find clarity and the way forward.

Foundation

Our foundation organisation is USA non-profit SeeingHappy.org

The team at SeeingHappy are a mix of educators striving to share their knowledge and psychologists dedicated to increasing happiness in the world – and all are photographers.

In particular, the SeeingHappy school curriculum is a tool being used to stimulate creativity in young people, helping to form critical life skills affecting a much larger sphere than just the creativity itself.

Funding is needed to ensure the curriculum can be rolled out to schools around the world with maximum effect and benefit.
